

Oversharing from Michelle Stafford.

I have wondered how she's been able to justify being on OT VII while going to work every day with someone that Church says is an SP and is attacking the Church actively (Michael Fairman). It would only make sense that she'd eventually have to leave the job once the Exec Producers refused to get rid of Michael.

What else would justify this kind of overreaction from her on Facebook:

Michelle Stafford

Saturday near Los Angeles, CA

I decided to leave my job.It came out publicly this last week.Some people are spreading bullshit that I'm mad.Some are saying bullshit that its because of other people and whatnot...This is the deal...Do you ride roller coasters??(this will make more sense to you if you do) I have been riding the funnest most intense roller coaster in the park.Every time i ride it it's different.It surprises me! It's been scary.it's been wild and has never ceases to be FUN...but inside I was thinking "maybe i should try another ride before the park closes" "Maybe i should get in that line over there for that other ride,before that line gets too long"... "I have been on this AMAZING ride for awhile and if i continue on it maybe i will have a hard time getting out of the seat"...These last couple years (more than any others in my life) have proven to me that life is a TOTAL FUCKING RIDE that YOU are navigating!! And it's up to you to drive it and play it how you desire...and most importantly...LIVE!! (PLEASE DON'T POST THIS ANYWHERE!!) :))